

MEYER BURGER

Fujifilm Dimatix Cartridge now available on PiXDRO LP50 and IP410

Dear Customer,

Did you ever want to test new inkjet materials with a disposable print head but without compromising on printer accuracy and mechanical stability? Meyer Burger made it possible by integrating the Fujifilm Dimatix Cartridge (DMC) on its PiXDRO LP50 and IP410 systems.

The optional PiXDRO DMC module is available as upgrade for your PiXDRO system. It is completely integrated and can be controlled from the printer's user interface software just like other heads. It can be used with all available cartridges for 1 and 10 pL drop size (DMC-11601, DMC-11610, DMCLCP-11601, DMCLCP-11610).

For more information please have a look at this movie or contact us via e-mail or phone (+31 40 2581 721)

This integration kit is developed together with the company JB Instruments GmbH in Freiburg, Germany (see www.jbinstruments.de). JBI licences technology from Fraunhofer ISE for this product.

PiXDRO is the award winning technology and product brand of Roth & Rau B.V. the Technology and Product centre of Meyer Burger in Eindhoven, The Netherlands. With over 10 years of experience, PiXDRO is the benchmark in the manufacturing of advanced inkjet tools offering an advanced range of inkjet systems from research to mass-production for different markets.

Meyer Burger is a leading global technology company specialising on innovative systems and processes based on semiconductor technologies. The company's focus is on photovoltaics (solar industry) while its competencies and technologies also cover important areas of the semiconductor and the optoelectronic industries as well as other selected high-end markets based on semiconductor materials. The company currently employs about 1,600 people across three continents. Over the past ten years, Meyer Burger has risen to the forefront of the photovoltaic market and established itself as an international premium brand by offering superior precision products and innovative technologies. The registered shares of Meyer Burger Technology Ltd are listed on the SIX Swiss Exchange (Ticker: MBTN).